MULTIPLE EVENTS TO FOCUS ON ENVIRONMENTAL IMPACTS OF FRACKING IN PENNSYLVANIA

Posted on 10/23/2016 8:45:36 PM

The Sustainability Studies Program is excited to announce a series of events featuring filmmaker and journalist Melissa Troutman, an IUP graduate currently producing a project on the environmental impact of “fracking” on communities in Pennsylvania.

On Thursday, October 27, Troutman will be here to talk with classes and to visit with students and faculty during the day, and, in the early evening, she will give a formal presentation followed by a question/answer session.

In addition to Thursday’s events, Troutman will also screen her new film, Invisible Hand, on Friday evening at 6:30 p.m. in room 225 of the Humanities and Social Sciences Building. Prior to the screening, Troutman will speak on a panel featuring speakers from Grant Township to discuss the struggle there to block a fracking injection well. The Sustainability Studies Program is cosponsoring this event with the Center for Community Growth.

SCHEDULE OF EVENTS:

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 27, 2:00–3:00 P.M.

Reception with faculty and students, HSS 116

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 27, 6:00–7:30 P.M.

Presentation, “On the Front Lines: Fracking and Struggles for Water,” HSS 219

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 28, 6:30–8:30 P.M.

Film Screening, Invisible Hand, HSS 225

Please help spread the word about these exciting events. Melissa Troutman’s visit promises to stimulate valuable debate about the future of our region
