Caribbean “Islands of the Mind”: Reshaping the Ocularity of the Self

Margaret Cox

Follow this and additional works at: https://knowledge.library.iup.edu/etd

Recommended Citation
https://knowledge.library.iup.edu/etd/1401

This Dissertation is brought to you for free and open access by Knowledge Repository @ IUP. It has been accepted for inclusion in Theses and Dissertations (All) by an authorized administrator of Knowledge Repository @ IUP. For more information, please contact cclouser@iup.edu, sara.parme@iup.edu.
STUDENT HAS RESTRICTED ACCESS TO FULL TEXT OF THE DISSERTATION.

ONLY COVER PAGES AND ABSTRACT ARE AVAILABLE AT THIS TIME
CARIBBEAN “ISLANDS OF THE MIND”:
RESHAPING THE OCULARITY OF THE SELF

A Dissertation
Submitted to the School of Graduate Studies and Research in Partial Fulfillment of the Requirements for the Degree
Doctor of Philosophy

Margaret Cox
Indiana University of Pennsylvania
August 2016
We hereby approve the dissertation of

Margaret Cox

Candidate for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy

__________________________________________
Lingyan Yang, Ph.D.
Associate Professor of English, Advisor

__________________________________________
Mike Sell, Ph.D.
Professor of English

__________________________________________
Susan Comfort, Ph.D.
Associate Professor of English

ACCEPTED

__________________________________________
Randy L. Martin, Ph.D.
Dean
School of Graduate Studies and Research
Title: Caribbean “Islands of the Mind”: Reshaping the Ocularity of the Self

Author: Margaret Cox

Dissertation Chair: Dr. Lingyan Yang

Dissertation Committee Members: Dr. Mike Sell
                                Dr. Susan Comfort

This dissertation applies my coined concept, “the ocularity of the self,” which refers to how individuals constantly reconfigure their “lenses” to the extent that the restructuring of their image results in acceptance of societal ocular dominance. Hence, the privileging of society’s eye over the individual’s skews the acuity and validity of his or her self-image. I examine how the fiction and non-fiction prose narratives of Caribbean women authors Michelle Cliff, Oonya Kempadoo, Patricia Powell, and Kerry Young address sociolinguistics and creolity, the causes and effects of self-commodification, and the unmasking and unsexing of gender and sexuality. I show how these issues are influenced by constructed Caribbean “islands of the mind” that need to be replaced with self-determined mindsets as there is an effort to reshape the “ocularity of the self.”